

Carl Luttig

Managing Director of ZEAL Group Pty Ltd

Carl is the Managing Director of ZEAL Group Pty Ltd which was founded in 1996. ZEAL's service is to provide innovative and preventative health and safety (Safety) services to top tier companies enabling protection from workplace incident, injury and death through Safety Culture Transformation. Carl has framed and articulated the vision for Safety as a means of driving Business Transformation, using Safety as the Trojan Horse. Carl has a reputation as an industry leader in Safety and Business Transformation.

He was a key player in Rio Tinto's Rössing Uranium Mine earning the title of the safest mining operation in the world. This led to his secondment to CRA as Vice President to establish and manage a corporate Safety Department. The department assisted CRA in achieving a quantum improvement in their Safety performance.

He has worked successfully at Board level in client organisations positioning health and safety as a strategic imperative. Carl's skill set and passion for promoting Safety as a cultural driver, has led ZEAL to excel across major industry sectors in Australia. The ZEALCare® system is today used as the managing and auditing tool in over 5,000 sites in Australia.

He holds graduate degrees in both mechanical and industrial engineering. Carl has a distinguished career as an engineer, a line manager, and an executive. His career growth reflects his ability to translate strategic goals across all levels of an organisation into operational strategies and plans.
